EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Patrick Buechner on 08/03/11.

The application has been amended as follows:

Claims 10-12 and 15 are cancelled.

Reasons for Allowance

None of the cited prior art anticipates or renders obvious all of the limitations of independent claim 1. The examiner disagrees that Jewell does not disclose a quire formed of folded sheets slipped into each other, as Figure 4 clearly shows that the papers which are fastened have been slipped into each other i.e. there is an interior sheet and exterior sheet, both with the same fold axis. However, the applicant successfully persuades that Jewell fails to disclose "at least partly rolling up the quire along the folding edge of the quire". None of the cited prior art disclose this feature as well (in combination with the other recitations).

Several instances of prior art such as Kobayashi (US 5,447,402) et al. teach similar binding methods wherein a cut forms a lip for binding. Sowden (US 4,364,737) also teaches a very similar device, wherein a group of sheets is both cut to form a lip. Furthermore, Sowden teaches rolling up the sheets, however, the sheets are not disclosed to be a quire (a special structure arrangement of sheets) nor are the sheets disclosed to be rolled up along a folded edge (as a folded edge, inherent in a quire, is not disclosed).

Furthermore, "rolling up" the edges of a bundle of sheets is well known, such as disclosed by Bergendahl (US 1,932,153), Trovinger (US 2007/0116542), and Von Auw (US 1,765,194). In each of these patents however, the "rolling up" action is done on the free ends of the sheets, such that the book forms a skewed edge and the ends may be flush.

The apparatus claims were requested to be cancelled because the Examiner did not find the arguments persuasive against the cited prior art.

Conclusion

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to KYLE GRABOWSKI whose telephone number is (571)270-3518. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Thursday, 9am - 7pm.
